Description:

Uzbekistan State World Languages University (UzSWLU) is a prominent educational institution located in Tashkent, Uzbekistan. Established in 1949 as the Tashkent Pedagogical Institute of Foreign Languages, it underwent a significant transformation in 1992 when it merged with the Republican Institute of Russian Language and Literature to form its current identity. The university offers bachelor's degrees in 15 fields of study and master's degrees in 13 fields of study, with more than 23,000 students studying approximately 20 foreign languages based on world education standards.

UzSWLU includes faculties such as English (1st, 2nd, 3rd), Romano-Germanic Philology, Russian Philology, English Philology, Oriental Languages, International Journalism, and Translation Theory and Practice, spread across 47 departments with over 1,018 professors, including 236 with PhDs. The educational philosophy emphasizes the integration of language and culture and adapting to the rapidly developing world. Graduates work in various international fields as experienced translators, foreign language teachers, politicians, members of international organizations, and leading experts in joint ventures.

The university spans a total area of 166000 square meters and has four campuses within Tashkent city, each equipped with modern facilities to support academic and extracurricular activities. Facilities include modern classrooms and lecture halls, extensive libraries, language labs, dormitories, sports facilities, cultural centers, computer labs, and multimedia rooms. Known for its rigorous academic standards and the successful careers of its graduates, UzSWLU significantly contributes to language education and international relations. The university's comprehensive infrastructure and commitment to quality education make it a leading center for language studies in Uzbekistan and beyond.
