

UZBEKISTAN STATE WORLD LANGUAGES UNIVERSITY

UzSWLU Admission Target 2025

Students from the Bottom Financial Quintile

Throughout the 2025 reporting year, Uzbekistan State World Languages University maintained an institutional target that at least 20% of students admitted through its annual admission cycle should come from households within the lowest 20% of household income in Uzbekistan, or from a more tightly defined group experiencing serious financial disadvantage and verified through official socio-economic documentation. In 2025, the University recorded a result of 20.3% for its first-year admission cohort.

Scope and application

- The target applies to students admitted during the 2025 annual admission cycle; it is not calculated against the total cumulative student body.
- The denominator is the total number of first-year students admitted in the 2024–2025 academic year and recorded in the University's official admission statistics.
- The numerator includes admitted students whose low-income or serious financial disadvantage status is supported by recognized national social-protection registers.

2025 admission result

Of the 5,834 first-year students admitted in the 2024–2025 academic year, 1,187 belonged to the recognized low-income target group, representing 20.3% of the admission cohort. This exceeds the University's institutional target of at least 20% and the corresponding minimum of 1,167 students.

Monitoring method

Admission records are compiled by the Registrar's Office as part of the University's official annual admission statistics. Applicants supported by recognized national social-protection registers are identified and recorded against the same admission cohort used for the total first-year denominator, allowing the target-group share to be calculated consistently from one admission cycle to the next.
