Financial Support for Students from Low and Lower Middle Income Countries at UzSWLU 2025

Tuition grants | Accommodation assistance | University funded support

Uzbekistan State World Languages University provides targeted financial support to students from countries classified by the World Bank as low-income or lower-middle-income economies. During 2025, the University used its extra-budgetary funds to finance tuition grants and accommodation assistance, reducing the main financial barriers faced by eligible international students.

World Bank income classification

For the World Bank 2027 fiscal year, low-income economies are those with 2025 GNI per capita of USD 1,175 or less, while lower-middle-income economies have GNI per capita between USD 1,176 and USD 4,635. UzSWLU applies this classification when reporting support for students from eligible countries.

Tuition grant and accommodation scheme

In 2025, 19 international students from three eligible countries studied at UzSWLU on tuition grants. All 19 students also received a 50% reduction in university accommodation fees. The grants and accommodation discounts were financed from the University's extra-budgetary funds.

- Palestine - 3 students. West Bank and Gaza is classified as a lower-middle-income economy.
- Afghanistan - 3 students. Afghanistan is classified as a low-income economy.
- Bangladesh - 13 students. Bangladesh is classified as a lower-middle-income economy.

Total supported through this scheme in 2025 19 students

Accommodation support for Central Asian students

UzSWLU also provides university accommodation free of charge to students from Central Asian countries using extra-budgetary resources. For reporting under the applicable World Bank classification, this provision is relevant to students from the Kyrgyz Republic and Tajikistan, both of which are classified as lower-middle-income economies. Students from countries outside the low-income and lower-middle-income groups are not counted within the 1.3.5 result.

Administration and purpose

Eligibility for the tuition and accommodation measures is administered through the University's enrollment, finance and international-student records. The scheme combines access to grant-funded study with a direct reduction in living costs. This support is intended to make study at UzSWLU financially accessible and to help beneficiaries continue their programs without tuition or accommodation costs becoming a barrier to completion.

Public reporting

UzSWLU reports beneficiary numbers by country and type of support while protecting personal and financial information. The 2025 figures demonstrate a university-funded scheme with defined beneficiaries, documented forms of assistance and a clear focus on students from low-income and lower-middle-income countries.
