UZBEKISTAN STATE WORLD LANGUAGES UNIVERSITY

Supporting Government in Disaster Risk Early Warning

SDG 13 Climate Action | Reporting year 2025

Uzbekistan State World Languages University (UzSWLU) helps the Ministry of Emergency Situations bring its warnings and safety guidance to the University's large student population, much of which lives in rented housing in Uchtepa district, and to the wider public through the University's official channels.

Bringing official warnings to students in the community

Every autumn and winter the risk of gas explosions and carbon monoxide poisoning rises in rented homes. Together with officers of the Uchtepa district department of the Ministry of Emergency Situations, University tutors visit students in rented homes to check heating and gas appliances and explain the Ministry's safety guidance. In 2025 such joint visits took place on 10 October, led by the head of the district emergency department, and on 12 November, among others.

Preparedness sessions

On 7 May 2025 the Ministry's Uchtepa district department and the University's Department of Civil and Labor Protection held a session for 70 students and staff on how to act during and after earthquakes, how to prevent fires and gas explosions, and how to avoid accidents in prohibited water bodies in summer.

Sharing official guidance

The University's official channels share the Ministry of Emergency Situations' safety guidance with students, staff and followers, including advisories on carbon monoxide and fire risks in winter and instructional videos on the use of fire extinguishers.
